Dear readers,

„Herzlich Willkommen“ - Germany welcomes the football fans from around the world who are coming to our land to experience the World Cup 2006 live on the spot. „Herzlich Willkommen“ - on behalf of the Salvation Army in Germany we welcome the evangelism teams who are visiting us from around the world. These committed people who are coming from many European states as well as from countries as far as Australia, Korea, Japan, South Africa, Canada and the USA, to name only a few, are certainly football fans as well, but they are also longing to spread the Good News of Jesus Christ. The international and German teams of the Salvation Army as part of the initiative “kickoff2006” want to take the opportunity of testifying to their faith and telling people about Jesus Christ through numerous activities great and small.

We are very happy to have the world as our guests and wish everyone a peaceful, inspiring sport event. We are also glad to have the Salvation Army World coming to visit us with many teams and wish God's blessing for this evangelistic initiative, many positive encounters and talks and that our guests may have the joy of people finding Jesus.

Yours faithfully,

Helga and Horst Charlet
Leaders of the Salvation Army
in Germany
